

Dajwór

Your place in the heart of Kazimierz

Live in Kazimierz

Kraków's Kazimierz is one of the most vibrant and recognisable places in Poland, which today is rewriting its history. Art, science and culture are linked together here in a unique way, while tradition intertwines with modernity.

In its heart, at Dajwór Street, an exceptional development has been located, which fits in with the historical spirit of the area while offering the highest living comfort. The elegant building, which is inspired by the cultural and architectural heritage of Kazimierz, provides many benefits of modern construction.

A place that connects

Kazimierz is the most fascinating part of Kraków. The former splendour of the historic district has been revived in recent years in the form of various cultural events, art galleries, trendy eateries, atmospheric vintage shops or handicraft shops.

At the same time, traces of the past can be seen at every turn: the historic Old Synagogue, the Galicia Jewish Museum, but also cobbled streets and historic courtyards of townhouses.

Today, as centuries ago, Kazimierz is a meeting place for different cultures and nationalities. Its unique atmosphere and numerous cultural events, including the international Jewish Culture Festival and ending with intimate concerts in the Alchemia Club, to name just a few, attract people from all over the world.

Location

Dajwór Street, one of the landmarks of Kraków's Kazimierz district, is located in close proximity to the Vistula River and its picturesque boulevards, which are a great place for walk and recreation. A walk to the river takes just a few minutes.

From here, it is just a few steps to the Kraków's Main Market Square and historic Podgórze district, allowing residents to fully enjoy the city's rich history and culture. The excellent location provides future residents with convenient access to unique places on the map of Kraków.

A place for the most demanding

Dajwór is an example of carefully planned architecture that fits in with the unique character of Kraków's Kazimierz district. The light-coloured façade with subtle details alludes to classical forms. Spacious loggias and large glazed areas will let you enjoy both illuminated interiors and panoramic views of the charming surroundings.

It is one of the few buildings built from scratch, that combines modern materials and technologies with respect for the history and character of the place. The architectural gem of our investment project is the exposed and revitalised wall, being a „witness” to the history of Kazimierz.

Attention to detail is also evident in the superbly designed common areas, such as the quiet entrance area, which are not only aesthetically captivating but also enhance the comfort of everyday living. An element worth paying attention to is the entrance to the building, which is led through a platform suspended over the mediaeval, restored defensive wall of the former City of Kazimierz.
